

Corrections and additions to Volume 10

Page 10 - Second photo down is not a Swing Door suburban car Trailer bogie. Swing Door cars had similar bogies but were double blocked by having brake blocks outside the wheels as well as inside.

Page 100 - four lines from bottom - Alter - it seems as a result, the single centre door was altered to the twin linked sliding doors. - to - it seems as a result, the doorways each end were narrowed and were fitted with single sliding doors.

Page 128 - Fifth line: Delete first sentence, and amend to read “This experimental car was built with three sets of double sliding doors each side. Following the introduction of the Harris trains and internal modifications the BT, the double sliding doors at each end were replaced by a shorter single sliding door”.
